Maree Crabbe is coordinator of the Australian violence prevention project, Reality & Risk: Pornography, young people and sexuality. She is co-producer of the broadcast documentary films Love and Sex in an Age of Pornography and The Porn Factor, and author of In The Picture, a secondary school resource addressing the influence of explicit sexual imagery. Maree has worked with young people – and on issues affecting young people – for over 20 years. She has developed and delivered programs focusing on sexual violence prevention, pornography, sexual diversity and prevention of STIs. Maree’s contributions to public conversations about young people, sexuality and pornography include interviews on television and radio, and articles in online and print media.

Readily available and aggressively marketed online, pornography has become a default sex educator for many young people. Its influence is shaping sexual expectations and norms, with serious implications for young people’s capacity to understand and negotiate free and full consent, for mutual respect, and for gender equality. There is growing concern internationally that porn’s influence is contributing to cultural conditions that cultivate sexual assault.

Through research presentations, video excerpts from interviews with young people and pornography industry participants, discussion, and engagement in practical activities, this seminar will provide an analysis of pornography’s influence and explore how it may be addressed in the prevention and treatment of sexually abusive behaviour.

- Participants will develop an advanced understanding of pornography’s prevalence, nature and influence on young people’s sexual expectations and experiences.
- Participants will develop an advanced understanding of how pornography’s influence may impact on sexually abusive behaviour, prevention, risk assessment and treatment.
- Participants will view and use examples of practical resources addressing pornography’s influence that may be used in prevention and treatment contexts.

Dr. Eke received her Honours Bachelor of Science from the University of Toronto and completed her graduate studies in psychology at York University. Angela’s areas of research include intimate partner violence, sexual offending and child exploitation, with a focus on risk assessment. She has received various recognitions and awards for her work; most recently she was appointed a Member of the Order of Merit of the Police Forces (2017, Canada). Child sexual exploitation material and the individuals involved, is the focus of this presentation. It will include a discussion about online and collecting behaviors, tying this information into individual assessment and the evaluation of risk to reoffend. Throughout the presentation, there will be some discussion of the mechanics of offending, including trends in technology, with a focus on how individuals commit their offenses and the way this may impact specific offense details.

The session will move into an overview of the development of the Child Pornography Offender Risk Tool (CPORT) and the related Correlates of Admission of Sexual Interest in Children (CASIC) scale. The discussion will include an update on CPORT and CASIC and a review of item scoring. See CPORT Research Gate for current data and materials, scoring guide, and FAQ’s.
